WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUG. 10, 1859 W. B. REESE, Esq.-We regret to see that a most unmanly and cowardly attempt is being made, or has been made, to prejudice the mechanics of the State against W. B. REESE, Esq. Mr. REESE is a candidate for Attorney General and Reporter, and somebody who desires to see him defeated, is endeavoring to require other, than the bare mention of the further that object by sending through the State a secret circular, in which it is charged that Mr. REESE once said, or his father once she desires a railroad communication with said, that "the mechanic should not rise above his tools," or something to that effect. A number of these circulars were sent to this city from Knoxville. They purport to have faction. The present is pregnant with high been issued by the mechanics of that place, hopes for the growth and progress of our but such is not the fact. They were not printed in Knoxville, and the mechanics there declare, one and all, that they knew nothing of the subterranean document until it was scattered among them by some unknown hand, and they gave no credit whatever to the charge, knowing, as they do, that Mr. REESE is utterly incapable of casting the slightest reflection upon that substantial and by the mechanics of Tennessee.

The Knoxville Register, published in Mr. REESE's native town, contains an article on ite with Tennessee in a celebration of the the subject of this circular, from which we take the following paragraphs: We are not the advocate of Mr. Reese, nor have we ever been solicited to become his advocate, but being a neighbor and a fellow townsman, and a gentleman for whom we have a very high respect, we could not suffer so foul a worng to pass unoticed. The infamous slander was started in this town, and, as above intimated, was promptly throttled by friends and put to rest, as they thought, forever. This happened some weeks ago. The whole affair remeined infew days just on the heels of the election, in the absence of Mr. Reese, when, as the dark plotter knew, there was no possible chance to counteract the evil which would be produced by these circulars. These damnable missles are now, claudestinely, penetrating society, and, before the election, will have circulated freely all over the State.

In another column we print this morning a card from Mr. REESE, addressed "to the Mechanics of Tennesse," in which he vindicates himself against the charge contained in the circular.

ABOUT CAVES .- They have discovered another cave on Green River in Kentucky, which, if all accounts be true, is a considerble hole in the ground, and must cause the Mammoth Cave to think small beer of itself for the rest of its life. This cave is called the Colossal Cave, in honor, we presume, of in the vicinity of Nashvile to be offered at a portly old gentleman of the name of Colossus, who resided a number of years ago in a neighboring State. It was recently explored | Jesse Warren, Hugh McCrea, Gea. Wash Barrow T. C. Barge, sus, who resided a number of years ago in a by Prof. Waigar, of Louisville, who wrote a M description of it for the Courier. We transfer E. P. Connell, that description to our columns.

The Cave is no doubt a rather large one; but there is really nothing remarkable about the stalagmite which, according to Prof. R. C. McNarry, T. L. Bransford, Dr. C. K. Winston, Wm. Dismukes. N. S. Brown, Eugene Underwoon WRIGHT, "is a perfect statue of Gen. WASH- be appointed a committee of arrangements, INGTON in military costume,"-Such things whose duty it shall be to fix the time and are quite common in this section. If Prof. WRIGHT will come down and visit the Great Five-Story Mastodon Cave on Blue River, in this county, he will see an immense Dr cluster or group of stalagmites, covering "perfect" representation of the Battle of Yorktown, with Gen. Washington on horseblick, in the act of discharging a Colt's repeater at Lord Cornwalls. By listening attentively on a still day, the Professor may very distinctly hear the Father of his Country's stirring battle-cry of "Go in lemons!" and the silent but fearful roar of cannon and the rattle of small arms.

People abroad who are not familiar with all the wonders of the material universe, may be a little disposed to doubt the existence of this beautiful freak of Nature; but it will be doubted by none who have had the pleasure of seeing the "perfect statue of Gen. Washington in military costume," which adorns one of the avenues of the "Colossal Cave,"

THE NEWS AND OUR MILITARY EDITOR .- The Lecal Editor of the Daily News says he will be glad if the accomplished gentleman and gallant soldier whose title stands at the head of this article will, on his return, devote his pen exclusively to military matters, and cease to write epistles to the ladies. To this we have little or nothing to say. Of the twenty-three duels our Military Editor has fought within half that number of years, fifteen of them were brought about by insults of a far m lder-type than the one offered by our cotemporary of the News in the paragraph to which we refer above. Weshall file the News fice of Attorney General and Reporter, on fo yesterday morning, and shall hand it to the 13th of August next. our Military Editor as soon after his return from the Old World as we can have him bound over to keep the peace.

Our Military Editor may write epistles to the ladies, for ought we know. Indeed, we think it more than likely he sometimes does. the nation." The circular goes on to say, But what of it? If he uses his own pen, ink "an opportunity is now offered to prove to and paper, and is careful of the style of cali- the world, that we are something more than co to whom his missives are sent, who has been invested by any law, either human or ding. d vine, to question his or impugn his motives? NASHVILLE TO ST. LOUIS BY RAILROAD. From a private letter received in this city yesterday, we learn that the Directory of the Iron Mountain Railroad have agreed upon Hickman, Ky., as the Southern terminus of their road. Thus an uninterrupted railway will be found between St. Louis, the center of the Great West and the Southeast, over the Nashville & North-Western Railroad. The importance of this intercommunication to Nashville is too apparent we suppose, to connection. Nashville, by her late vote in favor of the N. & N. W. road, showed how the West. As a sample of the coolness of railroad conductors, the Harrisburg Patriot and Union tells the following tough story: "One of them having been discharged from his trust, applied to be reinstated. 'Why, sir, if I had any doubt before as to whether two trains can pass each other on the same track, I am now entirely satisfied; I have tried it twice, sir, and it c-a-n-'t be done, and I am not likely to try
